WRITING

BOOK KEEFING TAUGST BY J. W. DOLBEAR,

Author of the "Science of Penmanship."

Persons from 6 to 60 years can learn this system in a few lessons ladges are taught to write in a neaf, easy and rapid manner, and gentlemen in a bold, pear, easy and rapid manner, and gentlemen in a bold, rapid, huniness style.

To persons acquainted with its merits, his system of writing needs no other recommendation, but those unacquainted with it, Mr. D. refers to the following remarks and testimounds. Instead of teaching Penmanthip merely as an issistion Art, an experience of 2; years his enabled him to reduce it to the certainty of a science, so that being guided by knowledge, its stead of random practice, napids from 6 to 60 years can improport time hearn to write with EASE, ELEGANCE and RAPIDITY. and RAPIDITY.

So securate is his system, and so uniform in its success, that after witnessing its effects on several immerce pupils in Nashville, the lamented Aifred Hume observer,

"Having had a fair opporturity of examining your system of fearmanship, and having seen the wonder ful and rapid improvement of your pupils in my school, I consider it but just to say that I believe it to be not only the best restem, but the only only the less restem, but the contents of the contents of the less restem, but the contents of the less restem that the only only the less restem, but the contents of the less restem to the les to be not only the best system, but the only one deserving the name - for by strict attention to the rules givon, any person may, in a short time, acquire a free, rapid, and degrant hand. I should be pleased to see it universally adopted." This expression was concurred in by—

Being requested by Messes. Dolbear to state the standing in society of the gentlemen, signers to the within, I do so with much pleasure, being acquainted with most of them; they are highly respectable, and gentlemen of education and of high standing in so ciety.

ANDREW JACKSON.

From the IR. Rev. Bishop Ocry.
COLUMNA, TREE, Nov. 27, 1343.
Mg. J. W. HOLERAN—Dear Sir: I have been much interested and pleased in examining your system of Penmanship. Your method of teaching seems to me to be both skilful and faithful, and the improvement of your pupils is an prising and rapid beyond at thing I have ever uitnessed. I shall feel happy this testimony to your merit shall test others to avaithemselves of your instruction in one of the most beautiful and useful aris; and am very respectfully oto.

Proof the Hon. Judge N. Green, President of the Law School, at Labauen, Tenn., and who was for 20 years on the Supreme Lanck of Ten-"Mr. Dolbear has spent many years in teaching "Mr. Policer has spent many years in teaching and perfecting his system of instruction, and is by far superior to any teacher of permansilip I have ever seen. You will perceive at occe that he is a man of fine intelligence. He gives to instruction without a reason; and his reasoning is so just and clear that you at once perceive the principle he seeks to impart—and that being fixed in the min't, the pupil, acting —and that being fixed in the min't, the pupit, acting upon it, seem learns to write with case and rapidity, as well as with elegance.

I commend Mr. Dolbear to your kind attention, and trust it will be consistent with your views and feelings to forward his objects. Any service you may render him will be worthly bestowed and will oblige me.

Very respectfully, your trien t.

Lanavon, Tasks, Oct. 20, 1886. N. GREEN.

The following very just remarks of the Hon. Thos. H. Benton, U. S. Scantor, are worthy the attentive regard of parents and all young persons who have any hope of success in the business of life.

WASSINGTON CITY, June 25, 1843. Bir-Considering a good handwriting to be not only an accomplishment, but a means of success to every man engaged in bulness, I greatly appliantly your merman engaged in bulness, I greatly applicant your meritorious exertions to improve the chiracycaphy of the age. A seatleman or a listy suther who writes badly never writes willingly; and consequently often fail to write when they should; and when they do write, it is done at the last moment, with haste and impatience, and consequently with faults of all kinds, of on committing and injuring both the writer and the cause which he advocates. Wishing you every success in your landable indertakings,

I remain yours, I respectfully.

Thus, H. BENTON,

Allow me to introduce to you my friend J. W. Dobboar, who v sits your city for the purpose of teaching Penmanship and Phonography. His reputation as a successful teacher is re well and so widely establighed that I will tay nothin r on that score. I only desire to present him as a gentleman from whose society I have derived much pleasure and profit, and as one whom you have the intelligence to appreciate, anything you may do to further his designs will be gratefully acknowledged by your friend, PHONOGRAPHY is so simple and easy that its principles can all be learned in a few hours, and a small amount of prac-tice will enable one to use it for the daily purposes of None but those who are acquainted with it can form any i less of its great brevity and simplicity, or of the case with which it can be learned. But what is Phonography? It is a system of short hand writing, which can be written ton times as fast as the common writing, read as easily, and learned with far less trouble.

It is used not only by Reporters, but by hundreds of thousands in this country and in England, for private writing, for composition, for taking testimony, etc.; in courts, for sermons, for correspondence, for bookkeeping, etc., etc.; by Ladles, by Students, by Clerks, by Clerks, by Legymen, by Lawyers, etc., and is rapidly coming into general use.

As a labor saving invention, its value can scarcely be estimated, and it requires but little time to learn be celimated, and it requires out little time to learn to use it for the daily purposes of life. But the ob-jection is made that others reunot read it! Well then let them spend a few hours to learn it, for where is the justice in requiring the active and intelligent to spend ten days in doing what they might do in one, spend ten days in doing what they might do in one, merely to save the indolent a few hours effort in learning a thing which would be useful to them for lite? The time was when but few persons could write their names, but the progress of the age de mands a more rapid method of writing, and white the active and intelligent array and with have the advantages of Phonography, the indolent must submit to the disadvantage caused by their own indolence.

The case with which it can be brought into profitable and daily use is shown by the following certificates. It is only these who are ignorant of it who ever speak against it. NASHVILLE, Dec 13th, 1860 ME. J. W. DOLBEAR: ME. J. W. DOLSKAR:
Sin: The few lessons I took from you some time since is Phonography, have combled me to save more than two-thirds of the labor in preparing my sermons, and I have no doubt it will soon enable me to save three fourths of it. I have nover spent time more three fourths of it. I have never spent time more profitably than in its attainment, and itsel perfectly fres in recommending it to Clergymen generally, as a means by which a vast associated time may be saved and that no with fast less effort than is generally supposed. Its principles are few and slople, of easy attainment and suited to the full expression of every word in the language, either for present use or permanent record. Yours respectfully.

J. S. HAYS,

Pastor of the 24 Presbyterian Church,
Nashville, Tenn.

Nashville, Tenn.

Nashville, August I, 1863.

In about six months from the time I began the study of Phonography, with less than one-third of said time devoted to its attainment, I was employed as Reporter for the United States Board of Claims.

The faithful tenching of Mr. J. W. Polbear, of Nashville, and the study and practice of the concise, comprehensive, and Judiciously arranged phonographic books of feen Pitman, of Cucinnall, have thus easily books of Sen Pitman, of Cincinnall, have thus easily combied mic to make Phonography practically useful. Its principles are quickly mastered, and I know of nothing that young persons cautearn with squal prospect of immediate and profitable amployment. The Secretary of War has ordered, July 6th, 1863, n "General Order No. 203, possegraphic reporters employed under the authority of the 29th feetion of he act of Congress, approved March 3, 1863, will be allowed not exceeding ten dollars per day," etc. Tols. will of course greatly increase the demand for Re-

In January last Mr. J. W. Deibear gave, free of charge, a course of besons in Phonography and Writing to myself and many other wounded soldiers in Hospital No. 20. Tedlous hours were thus changed to pleasant and scoffable ones. We wante highly our knowledge of Phonography, and those who have not. W. E. Perrin, of Company F. 1:18 w. S. A. who returned home disabled for life from his wounds, writes that he is teaching Phonography, and A., who returned home disabled for the from his wounds, writes that he is teaching Phonography, and hinds it so profitable that he would not take $6,000 for what he learned from Mr. D. I think both sodders and office a would find the learning of it a profitable employment for their leaure time in camp or hospital, without defriment to other duties.

W. G. SHAPER.

Clerk Hompital No 20 If Phonography were taught to every soldier in the army, Mr. D. believes most of them would value it as highly as the pay they receive from the Government without in the least interfering with their dution as soldiers.

Bon. Thomas H. Bewrow said in Congress: Bon. Tsoman H. Bawrow and in Congress:

"Had this art been known forty years ago, it would have saved me twenty prars of hard labor."

If Phonography is thus valuable in saving so large an amount of a lifetime, should not every child have in wast advantages, especially when they can be had at so small an expense of time and money? If it would have saved I wenty years of hard labor to the life of one man, should years of hard labor be brought upon others for the want of a blessing of such casp
